

Unveiling the UltraVault

Last week on Tuesday, one of the world's biggest vault operators Malca-Amit hosted its launch event for the new premium product known as "UltraVault" for its private guests in the Art House of Singapore.

Beginning with a private viewing in Malca-Amit's third vault in Singapore, the product launch event "Unveiling the UltraVault" was sponsored by McLaren, Burgess Yacht, Corndale Consultant Rare Wine and private diamonds consultants, which attracted over 40 guests from different industries.

UltraVault is the world's most exclusive safe deposit box service

UltraVault is a premium service which was pre-launched in September this year in Singapore and Hong Kong. It appeals the wealthy individuals who want to protect their valuables by keeping them in a secured facility that is accessible anywhere in the world. As the most exclusive safe deposit service in the market, UltraVault provides tailor-made solutions to storing and transporting treasured possessions.

"Our clients benefit from being outside the traditional banking and financial system, thereby diversifying and limiting risk, exposure and enjoy absolute discretion, confidentiality and flexibility throughout all operations." Said Ariel Kohelet, Managing Director of Malca-Amit Singapore, "Since we have been servicing the corporate clients over the past 50 years across the world, we're confident about the service we offer to our private clients in the long run."

"We have been working with Malca-Amit for over the past few years on the corporate level and have unwavered confidence in their new product servicing the private clients." said one of the guests.

As for its success of the pre-launch in Hong Kong and Singapore, the company plans to expand the service to London, New York and Tokyo early next year.
